WARD CLARIFIES PLANS FOR U. S. 641

Construction Of Lakes Education Center Started

Construction has started on a Conservation Education Center in the Land Between the Lakes recreation area in western Kentucky and Tennessee, TVA said today.

The Land Between the Lakes, a 40-mile-long isthmus between Kentucky and Tennessee, is being developed by TVA as a national demonstration in recreation resource development. The new Conservation Education Center is one of many recreation and education features planned for development in the area.

This new center, being built on a 4,500-acre site in the northern portion of the Land Between the Lakes area near Hematite Lake and the ruins of the old Center Iron, Ky. mine, will serve all visitors to the 170,000-acre recreation area. School groups will be able to stay in the center for as much as two weeks to study natural sciences. Adult visitors and their families will be able to come to the center for short visits to walk the trails and learn about the wildlife, the forests, and the history of the area.

Although the center will take two or three years to complete, a few features which will be included as part of the facilities already are being used by the public. A building near the middle of the center, built with funds from the Accelerated Public Works Program being used by the Land Between the Lakes development, has been converted by TVA into a reception facility. Some of the trails which lead to points of historical, natural and wildlife interest have been opened.

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Archibald K. Davies, vice-president of the American Banking Association, warns there is a "definite prospect of renewed inflation" if the federal government continues deficit spending of large magnitude in times of general prosperity. The more difficult it will become to implement the fiscal and monetary measures necessary to forestall further inflation and prevent its eventual and inevitable consequences.

Rep. Catherine May of Washington says the "real test of the federal budget is tightening — around the States and localities. The story goes: Spend, increase the national debt, add to the already colossal federal payroll, and don't stop until every single American is forced to rely on the Federal Government for either his life, liberty or happiness."

We are afraid that in stead of the government doing only what the people cannot do for themselves as Jefferson supported, it is doing for the people what they should be doing for themselves.

The people will have to make a choice. The people will have to do things for themselves and subjugate government, or turn their lives over to the government and allow themselves to be subjugated.

Circuit Court will get underway in earliest Monday. It has been going on for two weeks, but nothing was done last week due to various reasons.

We turn again to William Feather of the Imperial Typewriter Company for the following:

Whether a man is running a hotel, a bank or a railroad, he must follow identical principles, and one of these is to treat every customer, as though the success of the enterprise depended on that individual's trade.

Possibly 95 per cent of customers are untouched by slight discourtesies, rude telephone manners, poorly typed letters and shabby offices. Five per cent are keenly aware of these details of good management, and they are the people who are needed as customers if the enterprise is to win prestige. Routine can be perfected to handle 95 per cent of transactions satisfactorily, leaving only 5 per cent that require skill, judgment, and tact. Such a small proportion would not seem a difficult hurdle, but just imagine what would happen to a restaurant that dispensed 5 per cent of its patrons each day. It would be out of business in a few months.

Waterfield Scored By State Senator On Committee Issue

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield should be in a position to exercise "sole power to name and control" Senate committees which must consider legislation affecting his "own financial interest," a Democratic state senator said Friday.

Sen. Shelby Kinkaid, D-Lexington, a supporter of Gov. Edward T. Breathitt's administration, called for a return to the time-tested procedure by which the Senate controls its own organization.

Waterfield is attending a lieutenant governor's conference at Charleston, S. C., and was not immediately available for comment.

The governor and lieutenant governor are engaged in a struggle for control of the Senate during the 1966 legislative session. Waterfield has candidates favorable to his political philosophy elected in 10 Senate primary races against administration-backed candidates.

In the 1964 Legislature, Senate rules were changed to allow the lieutenant governor, as presiding officer of the upper chamber, to name all standing committees and to assign all bills to committees.

Breathitt advocates a return to the previous system whereby a committee on committees, elected by the Senate membership, handles committee assignments and assignment of bills.

Kinkaid said that Waterfield is engaged in the insurance business and a holding company owns the controlling interest in his insurance company.

"Questions affecting the insurance business and the sale of securities may well become before the next session of the General Assembly," the Lexington senator said.

Without undertaking to state these matters, I do assert that the lieutenant governor ought not be in a position of exercising the sole power to name and control Senate committees which must consider legislation affecting Mr. Waterfield's own financial interests," he said.

Kinkaid claimed that under the Waterfield plan, "every member of the Senate will become beholden to the lieutenant governor for his committee assignments."

He added that Waterfield thus would "claim a despotic power," which could determine what bills would be voted on, or dumped into a legislative graveyard.

"This is a power which no good man should want and no bad man should have," Kinkaid said.

Murray To Hazel Highway To Be Widened And Resurfaced

Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward in a letter to Representative Charles Lassiter, has spelled out clearly just what the plans are for the upgrading of U.S. 641.

Ward, in the letter to Representative Lassiter indicates that U.S. 641 from 12th and Sycamore streets south to the Glendale Road will be widened and the extension of curbs and gutters will be carried out.

This is a much needed improvement with the growth of business so swift in this area.

Ward said that this project will cost approximately $167,000. The construction on the north side of Murray, 12th street extended, will cost about $350,000.

He said also that the Hazel Highway between Murray and Hazel will be widened and resurfaced with improvements at Hazel also to eliminate one of the curves.

Ward's letter to Representative Lassiter in its entirety is as follows:

Mr. Charles Lassiter
Murray
Kentucky
Dear Charles:

This is in response to a request from you for information as specifically as I can make it regarding the thinking in the Department of Highways relative to the improvement of U.S. 641 from the Tennessee State line to Interstate 24 in Marshall County.

Preliminary studies indicate that a location for the Purchase Parkway which would serve the greatest amount of traffic and produce the largest amount of revenue would be a route which generally would parallel U.S. 641 from Benton north to Interstate 24. If this is carried out as we now anticipate, it will be possible for a connection to be made to U.S. 641 immediately south of Benton and no large expenditure of construction funds would be required for the improvement of U.S. 641 north of Benton.

This would make possible concentration of funds for improvement of U.S. 641 between Murray and Benton. This is significant because the Department studies have indicated that the section of U.S. 641 from Benton to U.S. 68 carries the heaviest volume of traffic on this highway and would warrant first priority for improvement. Paralleling of this section by Purchase Parkway would mean that funds otherwise wise required for its improvement could be shifted at a much earlier date to the improvement of U.S. 641 between Murray and Benton, and this is now the thinking of the Department.

My understanding is that there is general agreement in Murray that the horizontal and vertical alignment of U.S. 641 between Murray and the Tennessee State line is good except for the railroad crossing at Hazel. The Department has already authorized a project to correct the situation at Hazel. The Department's present thinking is that U.S. 641 from Murray to the Tennessee line should be widened to two 12-foot driving lanes, with good shoulders and resurfacing. This would make a modern highway built to proper federal-aid standards.

I am pleased to inform you that I have allocated an additional

"Much planning and progress has been made to date," he said. "The time has come to ask community leaders to participate in this program so that this network, when constructed, will reflect the needs and demands of the entire community."

Harry Sparks, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will tell "How Television Will Enrich the Program in Our Schools," Wraether said.

O. Leonard Press, executive director of the Kentucky Authority for Educational Television, will explain how the ETV network will operate.

John Dickey, chairman of the Fifth District ETV Council, is "one of the most successful teachers" by television in America," Wraether said. Dickey's talk is titled "Teaching by Television."

Maurice Bement, executive secretary of the Kentucky School Boards Association, will discuss "Why This Resource (ETV) Means From the Standpoint of the School Board Members." He said KESA recently endorsed ETV.

"The purpose of the meeting," Wraether said, "will be to explore the potential of the Kentucky ETV plan, its present status of development, the kinds of services it will provide for education, and, finally, to determine the ways in which the proposed ETV system can best serve our communities."

The First District ETV Council is composed of members from Calloway, Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle, Ballard, McCracken, Graves, Livingston, Marshall, Crittenden, Lyon, Trigg, and Caldwell counties.

There are 13 ETV Councils throughout Kentucky.

Dressen Rejoins The Tigers Today

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD

UPI Sports Writer

Charlie Dressen has a 196-pound get-well present in the person of Willie The Wonder Horton waiting for him Saturday when he rejoins the Detroit Tigers.

Dressen will fly into Boston to take a first-hand look at his streaking Tigers and wonder boy Horton, who has figured in each of Detroit's five victories in its current skid.

And Horton, who has slammed seven home runs in the last six games and driven in 13 runs in the last four, may be just the tonic Manager Dressen needs to recuperate from a heart attack suffered March 8.

Dressen, however, won't be able to assume his managerial duties until later.

Horton, who has played 10 runs and scored four homers in the past two nights, hit two Friday night and added two singles good for five runs as the Tigers rallied for a 12-8 victory in 10 innings over Boston.

Other AL Games

Elsewhere in the American League, New York overpowered Baltimore 9-3, first-place Chicago edged Los Angeles 2-1, Minnesota clipped Kansas City 3-2 and Cleveland beat Washington 2-1.

In the National League, St. Louis topped Pittsburgh 8-7, Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 5-2, New York overcame Cincinnati 5-3, Chicago whipped Los Angeles 2-1 and San Francisco edged Houston 2-1.

The 22-year-old Horton's pyrotechnics boosted him into the AL batting lead with a .383 mark and he home run leadership with nine, and Horton admits his occasional start this season is because he gets a battle with the scales this spring.

He was packing well over 200 pounds on his 3-foot-11 frame last season, when he was named out to Syracuse after a fine spring training. Now he's under 190 pounds.

Yastrzemski Hot

Carl Yastrzemski, who has been equally hot for Boston, hit two home runs and a triple double and single in defeat as the two teams battled nine pitchers for 31 hits—20 by the Tigers.

Detroit spotted Boston a five-run lead, then rallied to tie the score, and won in the 10th with four runs including a run-scoring single by Horton, his 10th safety in 12 trips.

Chicago and Minnesota maintained their first-place duel.

Joe Horne's 3-1 win, which ended a four-game losing streak, was aided from Eddie Pustier held the Angels to six hits and Bill Skowron singled home the winning run as the White Sox held their half-game lead over the Twins. Rookie Ken Berry hit his second home run of the year for the Sox off loser Marcelino Lopez 4-3.

Singles In Run

Zolo Versalles singled in the winning run in the ninth for the Twins after Bob Allison had tied the score in the eighth with a two-out, three-run homer. Gerry Posnow 2-2 in relief was the winner and John O'Donoghue 1-5 took the loss.

Sam McDowell struck out 12 and allowed five hits while subbing Phil Ortega 2-4 in a pitching duel at Washington. Vic Davalillo homered for the Indians and Fred Whitfield doubled home the winning run in the seventh.

The Yankees scored six unearned runs, including five in the ninth on only one hit—Tom Tresh's two-run homer—to topple back the Orioles. Robin Roberts 4-2 was the loser and Rick Davidson 1-4 beat the Orioles for the first time in his career after five losses. He was relieved by Al Downing in the eighth. Charley Lau homered for the Orioles.

Mahaffey's Shoulder Still Aches, His Pitching Eases Pain

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD

UPI Sports Writer

Art Mahaffey's shoulder still aches, but his pitching may relieve the painful memory of the 1964 season for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Mahaffey has been troubled with his right shoulder for the past two seasons. It was doubtful this spring whether the 26-year-old hurler would be of much use in the Phillies' bid to capture the National League pennant which eluded them by a game last year.

Manager Gene Mauch brought Mahaffey around slowly this spring, not allowing him to pitch in a single game for the first two weeks of the season. He didn't get his first start until last Sunday.

Friday night however, Mahaffey turned all eyes when he struck out 10 Milwaukee Braves and yielded only five hits en route to his second consecutive victory 5-2.

Cubs Trim Dodgers

The Chicago Cubs trimmed the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1, San Francisco edged Houston 2-1, St. Louis overcame Pittsburgh 8-7, and New York beat Cincinnati 5-3 in other NL games.

In the American League Detroit stopped Boston 12-8 in 10 innings.

New York blasted Baltimore 9-3, Cleveland topped Washington 2-1, the Chicago White Sox beat the Los Angeles Angels 2-1 and Minnesota defeated Kansas City 5-3.

Mahaffey, who once struck out 17 batters in a nine-inning game, has resigned himself to the fact that he may have to live with some pain in his shoulder for the rest of his career. However, he has looked very strong in his two starts and he seems to have licked his control problems. He walked only three Braves.

Record Shipped

The lanky right-hander won 19 games for the seventh-place Phillies in 1962 before slipping to a 7-10 mark in '63 and a 12-9 mark in '64.

Dick Stuart started a three-run fifth inning with a home off loser Billy O'Dell, 1-2, who retired the first 12 batters. The Phils followed with five singles for two more runs and Mahaffey had all the margin he needed.

Bob Buhl allowed only three hits before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the ninth inning and Ted Abernathy protected his one-run lead in the ninth for the Cubs. Buhl 4-2 holds more life-time wins 30 over the Dodgers than any other active pitcher. Ron Santo provided the winning margin with a sixth-inning home run. John Purdin was the loser.

Homer Wins Game

Jim Hart hit a lead-off ninth-inning home run off Ken Johnson to provide Gaylord Perry with his second victory in four decisions. Perry allowed only four hits and struck out eight for the Giants. Eddie Kasko singled in the only Houston hit in the second inning. The Giants tied it in the sixth on a double by Willie McCovey and infield hit by Willie Mays and a double play ended hit by Hart.

The Cardinals whipped the Pirates for the 15th straight time with a two-run rally in the ninth inning. Ken Boyer walked, Dick Groat tripled and Bill White singled against loser Al McBean. Donn Clendenen struck a two-run homer off Cards' starter Ray Sadecki, a 20-game winner last season, who was blasted from the mound for the sixth-straight time this season without a win.

South Murray Club Meets Thursday At The City Park

The South Murray Homemakers Club held its meeting at the City Park on Thursday, May 13, at 7 o'clock in the morning with Mrs. Quinton Gibson, president, presiding.

Mrs. L. E. Fisk read the scripture from Solomon 2:11-12 and gave a short talk about spring being a symbol of God's promise that he will change our hearts, our souls, and our minds. She also led in prayer.

The interesting lesson on "Planning Our Time" was given by Mrs. N. P. Carlin in which she said we all plan to a degree, but really the way homemakers never has enough time to perform her tasks because she has no definite plan. A plan provides more time for living well, gets one out of ruts, old age interests, and makes tasks enjoyable to perform. Be sure to plan for daily rest periods and that mothers should let family members help and choose tasks they would like to do.

Mrs. J. H. Watson and Mrs. Harold Eversmeyer read a skit "A Easier Way" Mrs. Q. Gibson also read a skit and a questionnaire to present her lesson.

Eight members answered the roll with a household hint including the following: Use melted tallow from your freezer in electric iron, do mending or ironing while talking on the phone, prepare a large recipe and freeze part of it, freeze individual pieces of chicken, wear apron with large pockets when cleaning a room, empty Windex bottles make good water or spray starch sprinklers, use left overs for home TV dinners to carry to sick relatives, very courteously offer an excuse to hang up when a talk on the phone becomes too long.

Officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Gibson, president; Mrs. Carlin, vice-president; Mrs. John Lewis, secretary-treasurer; Leaders — Mrs. L. E. Fisk, foods; Mrs. Carlin, home furnishings; Mrs. Kenneth Owen, Mrs. Harold Eversmeyer, main lesson leaders; Mrs. Dore Hopkins, housewife; Mrs. Eversmeyer, recreation; Mrs. Hunter Love, citizenship; Mrs. Grover $167,000 for the reconstruction of a section of US 641 at Murray as a beginning of this plan to improve US 641 south of Murray. This project will be one-half mile in length and will represent widening and the extension of curbs and gutters on 12th Street from the intersection of 12th and Symmons Streets to the Glendale Road.

I decided on this project because traffic studies show that the heaviest volume of traffic on US 641 is at Murray and, therefore, improvement ought to begin there.

This improvement will match on the south side of Murray the project already approved for the expenditure of approximately $360,000 on a new location for US 641 immediately north of Murray.

The Department, on the basis of its scientific studies, evaluates US 641 as an important traffic artery and, therefore, feel strongly that its improvement is justified.

Screening Of Junk Yards Well Underway

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 15 — Highway Commissioner Henry Ward said today that 80 per cent of Kentucky's known junkyards are now screened and 91 per cent of the junkyard dealers have taken the initial step toward compliance with the law which requires such screening.

Ward said the Highway Department issued 33 permits during April which increased to 438 the total number of permits issued since the Department undertook enforcement of the screening law on July 1, 1964. Permits are issued only after suitable screens have been erected.

There were 715 applications for permits on file at the end of April, which means that this many dealers have taken the first step toward compliance, by submitting plans for screening. Known junkyards in Kentucky totaled 798 at the end of April, as compared to 822 on March 31.

Complaints were filed against five operators in county courts during April, bringing the total number of complaints filed to 144. Of the total number filed, 54 operators have complied with the law and complaints against them have been dismissed.

Frankness Of Children Embarrassing

By GAY FAULEY

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Frankness is a natural quality," French say.

It certainly is a natural with children, whose candor sometimes causes parents to gasp. Only the growing-up process subdues it, and one wonders why it should, for the guilelessness of a child is so disarming even when it embarrasses an adult.

Every parent has been through incidents such as one my sister described.

The living room was full of guests and her eight-year-old daughter was wearing a pale turquoise cotton dress nicely set off the child's fair skin and red-blond hair. A guest complimented the child on the dress.

"Thank you," said the small girl. "Mommy got it at a rummage sale."

Mommy started explaining, as the rest of the room howled, that she'd bought the dress for $1 as she and neighbors sorted and priced clothes donated for a benefit sale for the women's club.

"The other women thought 50 cents was enough," said my sister lamely.

"And it didn't have a belt." A sister-in-law declared regretfully that she had stopped comparing handbags at 40. But she made the mistake of saying this in front of a six-year-old son and admitting to him she's actually 41.

At a bridge session at home one afternoon, the sister-in-law, mother also of a four-month-old baby, commented "I think 40 is just too old to be having children."

The six-year-old set the record straight for the guests. "But, mom."

he said, "you're already 41."

"Now," said my relative, "he's gone everywhere in the neighborhood to tell my age."

The Bare Truth

A friend tells of overhearing one of her small sons answer the door while she was in the bathtub. "Mommy come to the door now," he told the salesman calling. "She's naked."

One relative in a West Virginia town still laughs at the candor of a couple of young guests for dinner. They were visitors from Westport, Conn., a pretty sophisticated New York City suburb.

They stoked up on baked ham, hot corn muffins, salad made from greens grown right in the garden, plus assorted fresh vegetables and home-baked layer cake.

Then one of the youngsters from Westport leaned back from the table and said, "My, that was a GOOD country dinner."

My relative still isn't sure what the two small boys had expected.

Dear Abby . . .

He Needs Help!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Don't expect a signature at the end of this letter. When you read it, you'll know why. The problem is my wife. She is very "cold-catured," if you know what I mean. She stays up until all hours of the night doing dishes, cleaning house, earning, mending — doing just about everything she can think of — and when she figures I am asleep she will come to bed. On other occasions she'll rush to bed when I am taking a shower, and pretend she's asleep when I get there. Other than this she is a very good wife. Tell me how to cope with this kind of foe. I am not the type to look at another woman while married. Don't tell me to see my clergyman or a marriage counselor as I don't dare to discuss this with anyone. I am not bad looking, I am clean, and there is nothing wrong with me. If there is something I can do on my own, tell me in plain English.

KANSAS CITIAN

In plain English, your wife would rather do anything than go to bed with you. There may be nothing with YOU, but there may be something wrong with your wife's attitude about the physical side of marriage. Both you and she should ask your family doctor to help you resolve this problem. If it's to be solved, it must be discussed candidly. P. S. Ice will melt under the proper conditions.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who has been a widow for almost 20 years, has had her brother living with her for the past year. He is a bachelor of 64 and he has money to burn. My mother thinks that he is getting on her nerves and she wishes one of us would invite him to visit us, and maybe fix him up with a nice woman so she could get him off her hands. He is not bad looking, but he is a first-class pain-in-the-neck. He isn't really tight, and could have any kind of house or apartment he wanted, but he prefers to live with a relative so he'll have someone to talk to. We don't want him staying with us because we could never get rid of him. What do we do now?

DEAR PIEDMONT: Don't invite him if you don't want him. That's a man who has "money to burn" can usually find his own match.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married a man I knew a very short time. He was the biggest mistake of my life. I could write a book about what happened, but it's so fantastic nobody would believe it. I became pregnant immediately, and five weeks before my baby was born I left my husband. I was told I was entitled to an annulment, but the red tape was getting me down so, on the advice of my attorney, I filed for divorce. I was moved away from my home town, where this all took place. My problem: Here I am, an unmarried woman with a small child in a strange city. No one believes I was ever married. I've been told, in a nice way, to quit telling that "story." How can I prove I was married? I refuse to carry a photograph of my divorce around!

HURT AND ANGRY

DEAR ABBY: People who matter don't need "proof" — and people who need proof don't matter.

DEAR ABBY: This morning I was going through my husband's wallet, and I came across a piece of paper and on it was written a list of ladies' sizes for everything from coats, dresses, gloves, hosiery to bras. It was "signed" with a lipstick imprint. "From your Honey." What does this mean?

DEAR ABBY: It probably means that you can't trust your husband, and somebody else can't trust your husband's memory. (At least you know the vital statistics of your competition.)
